Gen. Eisenhower Quoted As Feeling America Has Drifted Too Far Toward Socialism

(By the Associated Press)

Criticism by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of what he called drift-to-the-left tendencies in this country prompted new speculation yesterday about the course he will chart in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

The five-star general's views were set forth in an interview originally given to U. S. News & World Report, weekly news magazine, in 1950. Eisenhower has now approved publication of the interview.

Among other things, Eisenhower said:

"We have drifted too far to the so-called left. America is not the kind of country that needs Socialism. We can achieve whatever reforms we need without such a radical change in our own economic setup.

"There are people in this country, of course, who want to go clear over to the left. I just don't agree that America's future lies in that direction."

Asked if he thought there was a "middle way" between the extreme right and extreme left, Eisenhower said he thought the best way would be to accept the best ideas from either sides.

The general also blasted wrongful use of the idea of an "emergency" as pressure to put across "some kind of socialistic system or government paternalism."

Tots Found: Two Dead

Lakewood, Wis. (AP)—Death found two lost babes in the woods before desperate search parties reached them yesterday, but a third survived a wilderness weekend in the snowbound Nicolet National forest.

Three-year-old Mary Ann Church was found sitting in the sun on the porch of the Badger resort, by Sig Johnson, a neighbor who was among the scores pressing a snowshoe search since the youngsters strayed from home Saturday afternoon.

Mary Ann's sister, Cathy, and their cousin, Steven Kennedy, both 5, were found huddled together in an outhouse nearby. They were pronounced dead by Clarence McMahon, assistant coroner of Oconto county.

McMahon said the two older youngsters apparently died of exposure. Little Mary Ann, however, still was fairly pert.

Nations Must Help Selves, Says General

Washington (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was quoted by his top aide yesterday as saying the defense of Western Europe "must come basically from within" the nations of Europe themselves.

"I am happy to report this effort is now being made in good measure," said Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's chief of staff in Europe. Gruenther testified at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. His prepared statement was later made public.

There was reported to have been no discussion of politics at the session, although Gruenther's indication of good progress in buildup of Europe's defense forces could mean that Eisenhower considers his task there to be about completed.

When reporters sought to get from Gruenther some estimate of when his boss, North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) commander, might feel free to return to the United States, he replied:

"The boss told me several months ago I'd be of very much more value to him if I stayed out of political matters."

Eisenhower said last week he was being forced to re-examine his personal position by the results of primaries which show that many Republicans want him to be their party's presidential nominee. He had said in January he would take no part in pre-conventional activities, although he would accept the nomination.

Meanwhile, Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the House Democratic leader, said Eisenhower "should at once relieve himself of his command and be a candidate for president. Instead of being both a candidate and the supreme commander of NATO at the same time."

"Frankly, I am surprised that General Eisenhower permits himself to occupy this dual position," McCormack said in a statement.

Eisenhower-for-president head-quarters replied that McCormack's statement is a tipoff that the Democrats regard the general as "the No. 1 threat to their hopes for 1952."

The Senate committee concluded its questioning of Gruenther at a closed session yesterday afternoon. When it broke up, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) issued a statement saying the general had given a comprehensive review of the defense buildup, and he added:

"Measured by the forces available to General Eisenhower a year ago, the progress has been encouraging."

"Measured by the defense need, much remains to be done."

Connally declined to discuss whether he felt it would be necessary for the committee to call Eisenhower for testimony, as some committee members have advocated.

The Senate committee is holding hearings on the Truman administration's request for $7,900,000 in new foreign aid funds for the year starting July 1. The consensus is that Congress will cut the amount by a billion dollars or more.

Gruenther's strongest general endorsement of the foreign aid program appeared to be in these words, included in his statement after he had discussed Western European defense goals for 1952:

"On this firmly scheduled buildup of forces, the decision of the Congress on fiscal year 1953 aid has a vital bearing."

"In part, this aid will make possible the continuation and extension of the buildup which is already under way in the NATO countries, including the new members, Greece and Turkey."

"In addition, this aid will make it possible to go forward with the initiation of the buildup of German forces at such time as a German program may be finally approved and placed in effect."

"The Soviet force has great capability in Western Europe," he said "But it has much less capability than a year ago because of the buildup in the forces of General Eisenhower," Gruenther said.

The brown-haired youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Kinsley, was picked by the Coolbaugh Township Consolidated school faculty at the request of Rep. Francis E. Walter.

Rep. Walter telephoned Principal Warren F. Nonemaker Friday and asked the selection of a boy between 14 and 18 to serve as his page during the month of April.

The principal announced the faculty's choice at a meeting of the PTA in the school auditorium in Tobyhanna last night.

$1,000 Cash Parlayed Into $5 Million

Washington (AP)—A Baltimore liquor dealer, who said he parlayed $1,000 cash into a five-million-dollar profit during the World War Two shortage of whiskey, swore yesterday he never asked Senator Bridges (R-NH) or Henry Grunewald to intervene in his tax troubles with the government.

The witness, Hyman Harvey Klein, told a House tax inquiry committee he didn't even know "the distinguished senator," Bridges.

As for Grunewald, Washington mystery man sometimes known as the "silent Dutchman," Klein declared:

"I wouldn't know him if I fell over him."

Previous witnesses have testified that both Grunewald and Bridges made inquiries at the Internal Revenue bureau about Klein's tax case.

Klein also testified he believes that "outside influences" figured in the government's action in slapping seven million dollars in jeopardy tax assessments against him in 1948.

The witness said he thought it was "a little unusual" because he had just paid the government $1,200,000 in capital gains taxes covering his profit in the liquor deal.

Anne Sterling Kidnaped, Beaten

Hollywood, (AP)—Bruised and battered "from her eyebrows to her toenails," actress Anne Sterling told police she was kidnaped early yesterday by four thugs who viciously beat her and held her captive in a mansion for 90 minutes.

The blonde 26-year-old film and television actress said the men beat and kicked her and slugged her with a blunt instrument. When she asked why they were doing it, she said, one of them slapped her face and told her, "this will teach you a lesson."

She finally managed to escape from her assailants.

Negotiators Black Out POW Talks

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday (AP)—Truce negotiators clamped a news blackout on prisoner exchange talks today in a move to speed up a Korean armistice.

But Red staff officers in a nearby tent renewed their insistence that Russia be named as a neutral truce observer.

The Allies have opposed this demand firmly. The deadlock appeared to be as tight as ever.

The negotiators took only 12 minutes to reach agreement on the news blackout. Both sides have indicated that if the talks are shelved from world opinion, they can juggle possible compromises freely and perhaps crack the exhausting deadlock.

The Allies want prisoners to have the right to decide whether they shall go back home. The Reds demand forced repatriation.

The U. N. command warned the Reds that the blackout would be lifted immediately if the Communists attempt to convert the confidential talks into propaganda.

The Allies made the first move to break the deadlock on prisoner exchange. A spokesman said they handed the Reds a "substantive statement" on the issue. He said the Reds, after a half hour recess, "made a preliminary reply to our statement and we discussed their proposal of March 21. We expressed our views on it."

On March 21 the Reds urged that both sides exchange all prisoners listed as captives on Dec. 18. These include 11,559 held by the Communists and 132,474 held by the Allies.

In the truce supervision talks, staff officers all but wrapped up their talks on the size of ports of entry where neutral nation observers can check truce conditions. There are five ports on each side.

Then they turned to the Russian question. The Allies renewed their proposal that the number of nations nominated as truce observers be cut from three to two by each side.

The Reds have suggested Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia. The Allies have nominated Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

The news blackout will cut down the amount of information given to correspondents after each day's truce sessions. Newsmen do not sit in on the talks.

President Asks Money To Help Red Escapees

Washington (AP)—President Truman asked Congress yesterday for more money to help people who escape from behind the iron curtain.

He also proposed letting in 300,000 European immigrants, in the next three years, not only to aid victims of tyranny and Communism but to relieve some of Europe's overpopulation.

Finnegan's face flushed as he heard Judge Hulen sentenced him to two years on the first count. Then the judge gave him two years on the second count and fined him $10,000, the prison terms to run concurrently.

Judge Hulen gave him a verbal lashing from the bench before the sentencing. Once during the lecture the affable Finnegan, for years one of the city's most influential Democratic politicians, arose to stand before the bench for the sentencing. Judge Hulen motioned for him to be seated and continued his blistering statement.

Finnegan posted a new $5,000 bond, pending his appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. His attorneys said they would appeal the case within the allotted 10 days.

Finnegan, with time off for good behavior, can do his prison term in 19 months.

2-Year Term Imposed On HST's Friend

St. Louis (AP)—James P. Finnegan, personal friend of President Truman, was given two years in prison and fined $10,000 yesterday by a Federal judge who denounced him as a public official who sold his honor for a "dirty mess of dollars."

The 51-year-old ex-internal revenue collector was tense as he stood before U. S. District Judge Ruben M. Hulen. Only a few minutes before the judge had denied him a new trial on his conviction of misconduct in office by a jury March 15.

FBI Inquiry Clears Meade's Girl Friend Of Shooting

Philadelphia, (AP)—District Attorney Richardson Dilworth said last night the FBI has determined that shots fired at the Minerva hotel—one of which wounded former Republican City Chairman William F. Meade—came from the outside.

Dilworth said one of his assistants received the information in Washington from laboratory experts who have been examining the window pane which was shattered by the bullets early on March 9.

Dilworth also added that the information:

"Apparently clears Miss Virginia Carroll of the shooting."

Dilworth had said previously that "on the basis of information I have received Meade was shot by Miss Virginia Carroll, a 38-year-old city employee."

Miss Carroll was a former employee in Dilworth's office but was discharged several weeks ago.

She has since been working in the clerk of courts office.

Meade is recuperating at a Philadelphia hospital from gunshot wound which cut his face and left a bullet—later removed by physicians—lodged in his right cheekbone.

Meade contended from the start that the shots were fired from the outside, instead of the inside of the hotel lobby. Dilworth said at first it was "apparent" (to him) that the shots were fired from the inside.

Arkansas Estimates Tornado Loss At $25 Million While Saddened Families Bury Dead

Little Rock, Ark., (AP)—The chaos left by tornadoes and floods which claimed 236 lives gave way yesterday to the order imposed by the hard working, sometimes grimly silent survivors of that terrible weekend.

Throughout the afflicted areas in six southern states, freshly turned earth in green cemeteries testified to a long, seemingly unending series of burials.

Slowly all but the most seriously hurt among the 1,100 injured left the crowded hospitals, turning aching heads and bandaged limbs to the somber task of rebuilding.

Gov. Sid McMath last night estimated total property damage in Arkansas at 25 million dollars.

He made the estimate in a telegram to President Truman in connection with a previous request for Federal assistance.

McMath estimated the amount necessary to repair damaged "public facilities"—including 19 school buildings—at $4,793,000.

In the second worst hit state, Tennessee, Gov. Gordon Gordon Browning spent the weekend touring the western section. He promised that the state would bend every effort to give the aid so desperately needed.

Browning commented, too, that "people everywhere were magnificent in the way they took over and did what had to be done."

The Salvation Army, first to reach stricken White county with aid, and the Red Cross were still feeding the hungry and giving shelter in hastily prepared aid stations to the thousands of homeless.

Western Big Three To Quiz Russia On Details Of Plan For Unified, Rearmed Reich

Paris, (AP)—The western Big Three will deliver notes to the Kremlin today asking many more details on Soviet proposals for four-power talks on a peace treaty with a unified and rearmed Germany.

French Foreign Secretary Robert Schuman said yesterday the West will ask for answers to many pertinent questions before agreeing to the conference the Soviet Union proposed in a note to the United States, Britain and France on March 10.

It was announced that the three notes from the western nations will be similar and the texts will be published in all three western capitals after delivery to the Kremlin.

Schuman told reporters the western reply is not negative in spirit. The West, he said, wants to know:

One—Just what form of central German government Russia has in mind, if Germany is unified.

Two—What would be the powers of such a government, which presumably would remain under the Allied occupation regime until a new treaty is signed.

Three—Would German rearmament be limited under such a set-up. If so, what guarantee would there be that the limitations are observed.

"We do not want a German National Army, particularly if Germany must be evacuated (by the Allied occupation forces)," Schuman declared. "According to the Soviet note, Germany would have a defensive Army. But all armies are defensive."

"Germany would have the liberty to make arms 'within the limits fixed by the peace treaty.' Now, if this Germany may not make any alliance, she will need an even stronger Army," He added.

"I am inclined to believe that it is perhaps the key point of the Soviet note, to make Germany a reservoir, a potential for turning out arms which would serve the eastern group, with Germany being able to receive raw materials from the West and export the finished products."

Stabilization Program Held In Jeopardy

Washington (AP)—Charles E. Wilson said last night there is no question but that government recommendations for settling the steel wage dispute, if put into effect, would threaten the economic stabilization program.

"Of that I am sure," he said.

Wilson, the mobilization director, talked with newsmen on his return from talks with President Truman at Key West, Fla., where he had said he had a plan which would avoid the steel shutdown now threatened for next month.

Wilson said he planned to arrange conferences as soon as possible with leaders of the steel industry and the CIO Steelworkers union.

Interviewed at National airport, Wilson was asked if he thought the proposals for settling the dispute which the Wage Stabilization board made last week broke through the formula for wage increases.

"I won't comment on the formula," he said, "but I'll say this:

"There is no question in my mind but that if the wage increases contemplated under the WSB's recommendations are put into effect, it would be a serious threat in our year-old effort to stabilize the economy. Of that, I am sure."

Neither union nor industry sources would comment on Wilson's statement.

The Wage board had recommended that the steelworkers be given a three-installment wage boost of 17 1/2 cents, plus other benefits which it said would amount to the equivalent of 5 cents an hour. Average wages now are just under $2 an hour.

The union, headed by Philip Murray, has accepted the recommendations of the WSB, which are not binding on either party. It has said that if industry does not accept them, it will strike April 8.

Industry sources have estimated that steel prices would have to be increased by about $12 a ton to pay for the recommended wage boosts.

Wilson said he had a "whole series of plans," apparently just discussed with Truman in Key West, to meet "various eventualities" in the situation.

He declined to answer direct questions as to whether he took Murray's CIO union to task less than the 17 1/2 cents hourly pay boost and other benefits recommended by the WSB.

Nor would he say whether he would ask the steel industry to forego a price increase.

Wilson smiled broadly in replying "no comment" to both questions. Some reporters got the impression he probably will make such suggestions.

Wilson was asked if he thought that the WSB's wage increase recommendation could be put into effect without giving the steel industry a larger price boost than the $2 a ton increase expected under the Capehart provisions of the economic controls law.

"The answer to that has been given by the steel companies, I think," Wilson said. "They said they would have to have further increases, if I read their statement correctly."

Wilson said his plans for conferences with the union and industry were incomplete so far. He indicated he would arrange the talks immediately. He said he probably would talk with union leaders first.

Wilson had said in Florida that he did not have "the slightest idea" whether his peace proposal would be acceptable to the industry.

Presumably Wilson won Truman's approval of his course during a series of talks which started immediately after his flight here Sunday night and continued through luncheon at the President's quarters at the naval submarine station here.

Riots Continue In Mexico City

Mexico City (AP)—Scattered machinegun fire was heard in this tense state capital yesterday as rioting between peasants and city dwellers entered its fourth day.

The death toll rose to seven, five of them convicts, in the fights which began over the question of taxing professional men, stoves and refrigerators.

City dwellers, who include most of the professional men in the state and who own most of the stoves and refrigerators, objected. The peasants backed the tax put into effect by Gov. Manuel Mayoral Heredia.

The tax was repealed after rioting began Friday, but this did not bring quiet.

Improvements Outlined For County Home

Repairs and installations at the county home will be outlined in a survey ordered by commissioners yesterday.

The firm of Rinker and Keifer, Stroudsburg, was retained by commissioners to prepare and submit plans and specifications covering:

One—Installation of an auxiliary emergency power system to operate automatically in case the regular power supply fails.

Two—The hooking-up of exit lights to the current at the home. (The lights are already installed, but are not connected with the home's electric current).

Three—Repair of floors in the men's lavatory.

The installation and repairs were urged to commissioners in a letter from the State Department of Welfare, Harrisburg.

After receiving plans and specifications from Rinker and Keifer, commissioners said they will advertise for bids on the work.

Voting Machine Contest Ends; Ballot Count Set For Thursday

The voting machine contest was at an end in the court house yesterday.

Ballots cast by county residents to show which of the two competing machines they favored have not yet been counted.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor sealed up all the votes in the safe in the commissioners' office. The tally will be made at Thursday's meeting, commissioners said.

During the week-long contest the two machines stood side by side in the court house corridor. Representatives of the Shoup Voting Machine Co. and the Automatic

The Truck Protest

The truck owner-operators who attempted to shut down long-distance truck hauling in Pennsylvania as a protest against Pennsylvania's weight laws were traveling down a detour.

The announced purpose of this demonstration was to make the public aware of the importance of the trucking industry and to force Governor Fine to call a special session of the Legislature to increase the legal limits of truck weights.

But this manner of getting public attention is so juvenile it was bound to fail. These truckers—who are only a part of their industry—hurt nobody but themselves, their customers who ship by truck, their employees and the cause they seek to advance.

The matter of truck weights—always a controversial issue in Pennsylvania—was put to the test in last year's Legislature. The House and Senate approved, but the Governor vetoed, a bill which would have increased legal weight limits.

That was done in strict accordance with Pennsylvania's Constitution and it stands as the official action of our elected representatives. The truckers lost and they'll get another chance to fight on the issue next year.

Meanwhile, they have no hope of browbeating Pennsylvania's 10½ million people into putting pressure on their public officials to reverse the action taken last year. That was tried in 1949, and failed promptly.

The best thing the truckers can do now is to keep their trucks rolling and present their case again to the Legislature next year, in an orderly way.

The Boston News-Letter is generally believed to have been the first newspaper published in the United States.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington — Pres. Truman and the Democratic National Committee have decided to make Congress the goat again in the 1952 Presidential race.

Frank E. McKinney, chairman of the Democratic National Committee who conferred with the President at Key West, Fla., got White House approval for a duplicate of the campaign that was successful for the President in 1948.

Congressional Republicans were lathered with invective in 1948. Such a strategy this year also would meet the southern Democratic revolt head on. So you can expect that White House-approved speakers soon will start carrying the word across the country that revolting Democrats from the south are no better than Republicans in Congress.

Instead of a "do nothing" label, administration foes in Congress this year will win the tag of "anti-peace" politicians. Mr. Truman thinks his party can make its biggest political pitch to the voters on the basis that he has done more to prevent war than any President in history. He has repeatedly said so. Now it is official Democratic doctrine.

Mr. Truman revealed his basic distaste for Congress, and his certainty that present politics are promoting peace, in a new book containing his candid confessions on the Presidency. "It is 'Mr. President,'" written from his private notes and papers by magazine and radio correspondent William Hillman, a White House favorite.

In reference after reference, Mr. Truman berates members of Congress in particular and the actions of the legislative branch in general for balking at some of his fair deal schemes.

The book is a political document that was approved by the Democratic National Chairman before it was published. This in no way detracts from its interest, but simply establishes the political policies on which the Democrats think they can ride to victory in 1952. It reveals, that members of Congress who have voted against, or will vote against, current international military and economic spending schemes, will be attacked for voting against peace.

Coupled with another recent publication, the diary of the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Mr. Truman's current confessions reveal that the administration has deliberately stripped Congress of any part in conducting foreign affairs. This was a deliberate political decision made by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, with the President and the Democratic National Committee concurring. It was based partially on the fact that the administration knew that many supposedly trustworthy bureaucrats had been dipping their hands into the public till and that Congress was about to expose the thieves.

Vandenberg's diary discloses that despite his championship of a bipartisan foreign policy, Acheson and the President quit conferring with Republicans and Southern Democrats in Congress just as soon as they decided that peace would be a big political issue. As a result the President has dumped countless international programs in the lap of Congress, calling for impossible expenditures, but all designed to build up a case that would prove congressional lack of wisdom in the event of war. Vandenberg, for instance, noted plaintively that despite pleasant lip service to his prowess as a foreign policy expert, Acheson and the President practically ignored him and all other Republicans on major decisions.

Both McKinney and the President have disclosed privately that public attention, for political purposes, must be diverted from the issues of thievery and Communism. It is to be diverted by attacking Congress as a road block to peace. Congress, of course, can't win the fight. If it fails to provide Mr. Truman with everything he asks for his international spenders, it lays itself wide open for the political harassment. If the nation survives 1952 without war, Mr. Truman and his political gaddies will take the credit and still claim that Congress endangers the future peace by niggardly policies in respect to turning over the public treasury to foreign nations.

Takes Two to Make Deal

Representative Kean, New Jersey Republican, struck out this week at businessmen who attempt to "corrupt comparatively low-paid revenue agents with expensive favors."

A member of the House subcommittee exploring the wilderness of scandal that has grown up within the Internal Revenue Bureau, Kean directed his outburst at a former motion picture company general counsel. He charged the man with paying for hotel and travel expenses to California for a revenue agent assigned to handle a $20 tax refund claim filed by the motion picture outfit.

There have been numerous disclosures of scandal within the revenue bureau which have trapped agents, big and little variety, in the practice of corruption. Not enough has been said about the men who corrupt our tax officials, and certainly their conduct is no less reprehensible than that of the agents whom they seek to corrupt.

We hold no brief for the agent who succumbs to the temptation of easy money. We hold even less for the businessmen who offer it to them.

How True!

In the book, "Mr. President," one of the memoranda from Harry Truman's files includes his comment on reaction to his decision to call a special session of Congress right after he was nominated at the 1948 convention.

"I am going to attempt to make them (the Republicans, who controlled Congress) meet their platform promises before the election," Mr. Truman wrote.

Then this prophetic paragraph: "That is, according to the 'kept' press and the opposition leadership, 'cheap politics.' I wonder what 'expensive politics' will be like. We will see." We have.

RUNNER UP IN THE NEW JERSEY PRIMARY

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

It is strange — at least I have no explanation for it — how little things stand out in your mind in the memories of a trip.

It isn't necessarily only the cathedrals, the museums, the statues, the important people one meets, that remain remembered.

It is often some little thing, event or circumstance. For instance, every time my wife and I talk about our first trip to Paris, we immediately think of a most wonderful plate of "potage d'ecrevisse" we had in the Vert Gallant Cafe on the Ile de Cite. (potage d'ecrevisse, by the way, is something like cream of crawfish here in America — although the ecrevisse is not a crawfish nor a crab nor a lobster nor a shrimp, but tastes like something of all of these.)

Whenever Paris is mentioned, we actually taste that delicious soup, the likes of which we have never tasted since that first visit in 1928.

Probably it wasn't the soup at all. Maybe it was the Notre Dame Cathedral right opposite that cafe. Maybe it was the Seine with its thousands of boats. Maybe it was the Paris moon. Maybe it was just that we were young.

When a lit'ry agency here, rates personal preferential treatment from Howard Lewis, editor of Argosy. . . . Tele impresario Robert Moore seeing sigh-to-sigh with Diane, daughter of F. Hugh Herbert.

Since almost all "legit" productions are now financed by "angels," some of the coin is lured at gatherings of prospective investors, at which readings usually by trained actors though not by a full cast, the "book" is delineated. At these affairs, usually in studios or drawing rooms, refreshments are served and the atmosphere is arty. So a number of Blue Book indigents, with good names but no bank accounts, get on the invitation lists (there are bureaus that specialize in rosters of such prospects) and wise up on what's coming to Broadway, enjoy free feeds and potables, and mingle with the moneyed—among whom they find some easy touches. . . . A project to produce Maxwell Bodenheim's "Naked on Roller-skates" brought out the largest contingent of patrician cadgers.

More on Lattimore — During the Lattimore testimony before the McCarran Committee Benjamin Mandel, the research chief of the Committee, brought into evidence a photostat of a document from the files of the Institute of Pacific Relations headed "Meeting on Pacific Affairs; April 8; Motiliev, Voitsinsky, ECC; O.L.; Harondar; HM." The year is 1936. This is an important piece of evidence because Lattimore had to admit that he had attended one or more meetings in Moscow with the Soviet Group of the Institute of Pacific Relations. He admitted that the reference to "O.L." in the document was presumably himself.

Mr. Lattimore was asked to read the following, which he did:

"O.L. asked if Motiliev had received his long letters on the question of P.A. ('Pacific Affairs') and Motiliev said that he had only received the second. O.L. said that his main difficulties had been two: 1. When he took over the editorship of P.A. . . . he and (Edward C. Carter) . . . did not want to determine a definite decision. 2. He has had trouble getting material from the different Councils. The lack of articles on . . . Japan is not the lack of asking. . . . Likewise, the Soviet Council did not send in its articles. The one article received from them was made the leading article. It has only been in the last two or three months O.L. has felt that he could freely turn down articles. . . .

"It is impossible to get in touch with the Chinese Communists to get an answer from them. O.L. did not know about the writer in 'China Today' or he would have tried to get the answer published in P.A. rather than in 'China Today'. However, when it was published in 'China Today,' the question came up whether the precedent should be set of republishing materials from other magazines. It had never been done, and P.A. was supposed to publish new material. Therefore O.L. decided to print an extract of the answer and give it a prominent place. . . .

"Motiliev said that it would be better to put as leading articles one that represented the point of view of one of the Councils. O.L. said that he was prepared to consider this idea."

Now we come to the pay-off: "Mr. Morris. Mr. Lattimore, you testified before the Tydings Committee that you did not know Dr. Chi to be a Communist."

"Mr. Lattimore. I believe I probably did, yes." Then there is page after page of testimony that Lattimore had said that he did not know, could not know, would not know that Dr. Chi is a Communist. (Incidentally, Dr. Chi is a high official of Communist China today.) Dr. Chi under a pseudonym wrote for "China Today," a Communist had testified that he did not know that it was a Communist paper, but he did hear about it later. On December 13, 1939, Lattimore addressed a letter to Max Granich, editor of "China Today":

"Dear Mr. Granich:— "Thank you for your letter of December 11. I am afraid that my position as editor of 'Pacific Affairs' makes it impossible for me to join the editorial board of 'China Today.' I am a member of the International Secretariat of the Institute of Pacific Relations. This means that one of my employers is the Japanese Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations. There has already been a considerable kick about my being on the Board of 'Amerasia.' It is probably better for me not to invite extra kicks by going on to the Board of 'China Today,' which is more partisan, and more obviously partisan, than Amerasia. . . .

"I have been desperately busy the last few months completing a book, and consequently have published very little in magazines. I am expecting to write some articles in the next few months, but I think you will agree that these articles would have their maximum impact, if not published in magazines which are devoted to 'The Cause of China.'"

"China Today" was a Communist paper. Is it possible to give any other interpretation to this than that "The Cause of China" is the Communist Cause? Also, why did Lattimore testify one way in the Tydings Hearings and another in the McCarran Hearings when confronted by this document?

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Murgatroyd's crusty old father, before he died and left his son ten million outright, always warned him, "My boy, tell a girl how much you love her as eloquently and often as you like, but never put it on paper." Murgatroyd, alas, never remembered this sage dictum. Four times running he was nicked for thousands in breach-of-promise cases. Now, at least, his lawyer has persuaded him to begin all notes of passion, "My One Beloved Darling, not to mention Gettlemen of the Jury."

The late Carl Van Doren, one of the best loved men in the annals of American literature, liked to recall the first country fair he ever attended. He was seventeen at the time. A hand on the farm suggested feminine companionship, but the bashful Carl explained, "I'd like to take a girl, but I wouldn't know even how to ask one." The hand guffawed and made a remark Carl never forgot. "Son," he said, "there just ain't no wrong way."

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—From horrible bogey man, television has become something that can be lived with and profited from.

That's how movie men are beginning to think, judging from expressions by some of them at a recent demonstration of pay-as-you-see TV. Said veteran producer Cecil B. DeMille: "It won't hurt the theaters a bit." He added, as an afterthought, "The little boxes" would suffer.

"It'll do to them what 'The Squaw Man'—the first American feature-length picture, produced by DeMille in 1913—"did to the nickelodeons. Sam Goldwyn says there were 16,000 nickelodeons. Within a year 50 percent of them closed.

"You can't stop progress. Now for the first time the (movie) theater is in show business. People go to see a show. They don't go because the theater is airconditioned, or warm, or the popcorn is good. And that's a very healthy condition."

C. B. declared: "There's room for both television and theaters. People will go where the best show is. That's been proved for 5,000 years, from the theater of Dionysius in Athens."

A leading Canadian exhibitor attended this demonstration, John J. Fitzgibbons, Toronto, president of Famous Players Canadian Corp., which operates some 430 theaters, foresees "tons of room" for both movie houses and TV.

County Allocates $17,100 In Road Aid From Gas Tax Fund

Mount Pocono To Receive Largest Sum

Commissioners earmarked $17,100 from the liquid fuel tax fund yesterday for distribution as road aid to townships and boroughs.

The money may only be spent on State-approved road improvements and construction.

Commissioners Amzi F. Altomose, W. Adolph Rake and Greenville Shiffer described some of the things they took into consideration in making the grants and how they would like to set up the fund in the future:

"Equality and fairness of distribution so that over a reasonable period of time all sections of the county may show more or less equal improvement.

"Help backward areas to bring them in line with neighboring districts in the matter of road improvement."

To best accomplish these ends commissioners called for all townships and boroughs to program their improvements at least three years in advance and anticipate the costs.

"If this information is available, the entire picture can be examined intelligently, and growth of the county road system should show systematic development.

"The county, if aggressive, can take advantage of the next few years to fire the interest of travelers and newcomers in the possibility of future development."

Then commissioners agreed on the following allocations for 1952:

Barrett, $1,000; Chestnuthill, $3,500; East Stroudsburg, $1,000; Hamilton, $800; Middle Smithfield, $800; Mount Pocono, $4,500; Paradise, $3,000; Pocono, $1,500; Stroudsburg, $1,000.

Some $2,600 was set aside as a reserve for allocation at a later date.

The commissioners estimated the county will get about $70,000 from the State this year. To this will be added $43,000 now in the account as a hold-over from last year. Total in this year's fund, $113,000.

Out of this will come (in round numbers): repairs and maintenance to county bridges, $17,000; road bonds maturing this year, $20,000; interest on bonds, $1,700; committed to local districts last year but not yet paid, $19,000; reserve to cover State obligations on right-of-way damages, $35,400; and yesterday's grants to boroughs and townships, (including the reserve for later allocation) $19,700. Total, $113,000.

Motorists Watch Nude Doukhobors

Grand Forks, B.C. (AP) — Motorists along a well-traveled highway Sunday watched a dance of Spring staged by 25 nude Doukhobors.

The Doukhobors, members of the Radical Sons of Freedom, staged the dance in their own fields at Gilpin, a nearby Doukhobor settlement.

"Quite routine," said one citizen. "They were probably celebrating the first day of Spring. Anyhow they were on their own land."

Greek Girl Who Yearns For Kiss To Undergo Face Surgery

New York (AP) — A chatty little Greek girl told shipboard reporters yesterday why she was coming to the United States.

"I want people to kiss me," she said. "Nobody wants to kiss me."

Back home in Greece, she explained, she has a friend who has "beautiful cheeks."

"Everybody kisses her, but nobody kisses me," said seven-year-old Martha Stamatiadou.

Then the voluble little girl told how other children teased her and called her "funny-face." Even her baby brother, she said, wouldn't kiss her.

"Maybe he'll kiss me when they fix my face up," she added.

Martha was brought here by the Foundation for Orphans in Greece. A New York plastic surgeon will operate on her to remove scars from burns, suffered when a shell set fire to her home during Communist guerrilla warfare.

Dolores Dellaria Selected For Exchange Club Award

Dolores Dellaria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Dellaria, 58 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg, was chosen to receive the "Youth of the Month" award at last night's Exchange Club dinner.

Dolores has been very active in school affairs, Ralph O. Burrows, principal of East Stroudsburg High school noted, as he made the award. Burrows cited the student's record as a member of several school organizations.

Included among these were the Tri-Hi-Y, of which Miss Dellaria is now president; the Girls' Chorus; Allied Youth; the Eastburger staff; the school Dancing club and Intramurals.

In addition she has worked on both the Junior and Senior plays (1951 and 1952) during her four years at the school and participated in the preparation for this year's opera.

Miss Dellaria will enter Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia in September as a student nurse.

Mr. Nash, formerly a resident of Wilmington, Del., retired to the Poconos about 10 years ago, and has been an active member of community affairs. He is survived by his wife, Marie J., and a son, Denison, who is preparing for a Ph.D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

Ownership Of Dog Decided

Huntingdon, W. Va. (AP) — Sylvester Gibson, of Huntingdon, claimed the hound dog was his and its name was "Rover."

Therman Dishman of Kenova said he owned the dog and its name was "Mike."

A Common Pleas court jury was called upon yesterday to settle the issue under the supervision of Judge H. Clay Warth, who ordered the dog to be brought into the courtroom.

"Call the dog," the judge ordered Dishman. The hound only looked sorrowfully at the Kenova man as he called "Here Mike, here Mike."

"Come over here Rover," said Gibson. The dog trotted over to him. The jury was excused and took three minutes to decide that Gibson should take the hound home.

French Cabinet Approves Budget Without Tax Hike

Paris (AP) — The French Cabinet last night approved Premier Antoine Pinay's new budget designed to meet the country's staggering defense burden without boosting taxes.

It will be sent to the finance committee of the National Assembly today and may come up for debate later in the day.

Pinay proposed to save 110 billion francs ($320 million) by sweeping government economies thus wiping out an 80 billion franc ($228,570,000) deficit.

The Cabinet at the same time stamped its approval on a Pinay project to forgive and forget billions of francs in unpaid taxes.

The amnesty on unpaid back taxes will free a large number of tax collectors now loaded down with volumes of work trying to collect them. These men will be able to concentrate on getting current tax money into the national till.

Heavy penalties are decreed for future tax evasions.

Aids For His Grooming, Too

Newest toiletries for men are designed to help make a fellow fellow handsome, well groomed and look it, too.

For the man who prefers show-ers to baths, there's a man-sized bath mitt that's soap and wash cloth in one.

After his morning shower, he can reach for a special skin cream (if he has a sensitive skin), that helps prepare his face for daily whisker removing. Then, if he desires a facial while shaving, he can use a new shaving cream containing ozone, that acts as a skin bracer, too.

If a sudden after office hours appointment arises, and there's hardly time or place for a shave, he can apply a new product that looks like his wife's pancake make-up and is applied the same way.

For the traveling man, toiletry items such as cologne, hair tonic and talc come conveniently packaged in squeezable plastic bottles.

Although the metal nickel is widely distributed, there are only a few places where it is concentrated enough to be mined.

Red Cross Sets $700 Goal For County In Campaign To Aid Tornado Victims

The American National Red Cross set Monroe county's quota at $700 in its current campaign to secure new funds to meet the overwhelming disaster which has crushed dozens of communities in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Missouri.

As casualty lists continue to mount, the total known dead yesterday was set at 236, with over 1100 injured. The Red Cross national headquarters stated that thousands of homeless in the disaster-stricken areas will need care and housing.

In an "urgent" message to county and district chairmen throughout the country, the national headquarters said: "To meet this great emergency thousands of chapter volunteers have been on duty since the tornado struck. The national organization is dispatching trained workers, including doctors and nurses to the stricken areas. Food, clothing, shelter are being provided. Whole blood and plasma have been delivered by plane. Cots, blankets, emergency power generators and water purifiers are a part of the Red Cross equipment rushed to the stricken communities. We have appropriated one million dollars to meet immediate emergency needs."

The message went on to describe the current disaster as the "worst tornado in a decade." It said further that the total cost to the Red Cross would run to "at least five million dollars."

The national organization has asked all local chapters to begin work immediately on the campaign to collect the local quotas.

Grantees were Venetta Healy and Violet Colissimo, both of East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Abelloff, East Stroudsburg, sold to Jack R. Dehl, East Stroudsburg, a Stroud township lot on the east side of Pine St. extension, listed on the map of Stokes Mill Road Manor.

Senate Delays Vote On Probe Powers Measure

Washington (AP) — Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) asked the Senate yesterday to delay voting on a bill to give the White House—but not President Truman's cleanup man Newbold Morris—broad powers to investigate government corruption.

The Senate complied with McCarran's wish.

McCarran said such a matter should not be passed by unanimous consent, but should come up when senators had a chance to discuss it at length.

Truman has asked that Morris be given subpoena powers to help him ferret out wrongdoing in the administration.

McCarran, who predicted Congress will never grant them to Morris, has offered a substitute bill.

The McCarran bill would grant subpoena powers to an investigator appointed by the White House, but confirmed by the Senate. Some senators have predicted Morris would never get such approval.

Teen-Agers Find Difficulty Talking To Parents At Home But Not At School For Parents

About 150 parents and teen-agers last night took the first step, at least, in breaking down the barriers between generations which the teen-age panel at the School for Parents seemed to agree was the major problem on which all others rested.

The other problems, too, came in for their share of discussion, both in the separate conferences and in the combined panels of parents and teen-agers.

Sponsored by the American Association of University Women, the School for Parents featured Dr. Raymond Patouillet, assistant professor of education at Columbia University Teachers College, and consultant in guidance for the Garden City schools.

He met with the 80 or so teen-agers who turned out for the discussion in the school library for an hour of general discussion during which the problems of use of the car, allowances, working in the home, how much parents should enter into their children's parties, and a great many other topics were touched upon.

Meanwhile the 60-some parents had been divided into four discussion groups in the auditorium where they, too, discussed hours which young people should keep, smoking and alcohol and the teen-ager, legal responsibility of parents for the health, welfare and morals of their children.

Each group then selected four representatives who met together for the general panel. Mrs. M. R. Kiefer, Mrs. Morton Barrow, Mrs. Elton Denning and Mrs. Harry Smith represented the parents, and Betsy Smith, Don Stone, Barbara Shaffer and Lowell Fellman, the teen-agers.

The discussion, however, was not confined to the panel as debatable points were taken up by teen-agers throughout the audience.

The teen-agers themselves brought out that if they wished to be considered responsible in making their own decisions they should also assume a certain amount of responsibility at home; that if they were allowed the use of the family car they should also assume some of the responsibility of ownership.

However, they also charged that in many instances, parents set a bad example, expecting their children to do as they said not as they did and that children were the products of a home.

The most common problem was that of making their viewpoints understood with such wide divergence of interests and background. Summing up, Dr. Patouillet suggested that further study of this difficulty of communication between parents and teen-agers might form the basis not only of school and PTA discussions but also of family dinner-table talk.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Elmer Vesty and Mrs. Wendell Wicks, co-chairmen, with Ralph Bender, Mrs. Harriet Hantjes, Miss Julia Sieg and Miss Lillian Stark as faculty representatives and Mrs. M. R. Kiefer, Miss Miriam Lark, Mrs. J. L. Cohen, Mrs. Henry Slaboski and Dr. Charlotte Jordan on the committee.

J., spoke on "Refinishing Furniture" and displayed several pieces she had refinished. Mrs. Milla Hartley spoke on designing and making lamp shades, illustrating her talk with several examples.

Refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's day were served by the hostesses: Mrs. Carl Kramer, chairman; Mrs. Helen Dietze, Mrs. George Mueck, Mrs. William Kennedy, Mrs. Frank Gardner and Mrs. Harry Morgan. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Harry Seaman poured.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

One of the first problems the parents brought up at the School for Parents was the matter of late hours and outside activities that kept the children away from home.

And then proceeded to demonstrate how it happens by continuing their meeting past 10:30, and on a school night, too. At that, they barely scratched the surface of the things they wanted to talk about.

It may be true that more than half of the teen-agers found it difficult to talk things over with their parents, but they sure weren't having any trouble last night. At every point, made, hands were going up all over the audience thick as Easter lilies on Easter morning church services.

And not only the girls had suggestions, either, but the boys had plenty to say about the conduct of parents, too. From what I could judge, today's teen-agers should have little difficulty making themselves understood.

That is, if parents listen as quietly at home as they did last night. Of course, it's true that home discussions usually get pretty personal and emotional.

Mrs. Tweedie Re-elected By VFW Aux.

Mrs. Evelyn Tweedie was last night re-elected as president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary at their meeting held at the VFW home in Stroudsburg. Other officers elected vice president; Helen Wagner, chaplain; Ethel Dickson, conductress; Pat Clifton, guard; Celia Sipthorpe, treasurer; and Helen Sickler, trustees for three years.

New members were initiated at the meeting, and Florence Edinger won the attendance prize.

Plans were made for a benefit party in April for the Cancer fund to which the auxiliary donated $25. The date of the scheduled bread and cake sale has been changed and will be announced at the next meeting.

Cootiettes Wednesday

Pecoon Cootiettes will hold an important meeting on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the VFW home. Orders for chocolate covered Easter eggs should be turned in at this meeting and other business of importance will be transacted.

These past few days, I've been enjoying a comparatively recent book . . . "My Life's History" . . . the autobiography of Grandma Moses, and on almost every page one senses the love of beauty that dominated Anna Mary Robertson's life since early childhood. She tells, for instance, how she painted as a child, and how during their marriage her husband was always bringing home flowers and shrubs because he knew they would please her. One day he came into the house carrying almost half of a flowering dogwood tree. Placed in water and fastened against the dining room wall, it continued to bloom for several weeks, delighting the family with its splendor.

This is one of those commonplace episodes, meaningful only because it leaves such a pretty picture imprinted on the mind's eye. I now envision Grandma and her flowers every time I stop near our jewelry department and see the dainty new styles just added to the display.

You may recall my promise to keep you posted on an unusual item of merchandise for which Edna Harmon had placed an order even previous to its "unveiling" for the metropolitan press. Well . . . we have it now—an earring which can be best described by asking you to visualize Grandma Moses's dogwood tree. These earrings are fan shaped, and are fashioned of delicate silver wire, laden here and there with tiny flowers of pearl and rhinestone. They are large enough to cover the entire ear, but are so light the two together weigh less than milkweed down. The wearer can attach them to her ear lobe in any way she wishes, either high or low, and can, if she desires, make them smaller by adjusting the tendrils of wire into any shape she may choose.

So smart are these, and so very right for the current season. Look magazine features them with a Dache hat . . . the epitome of elegance. Do come in and see them for yourself . . . A few months hence we may all be "knee deep in June", as James Whitcomb Riley put it. But right now, the fashionable girl is up to her ears in spring.

Assessments In Stroudsburg Range From 1 To 120 Per Cent Of Values

(This is the twenty third in a series of articles based on actual real estate sales in boroughs and townships and the amounts at which these properties were assessed. Figures were taken from official county records.)

By Leonard Randolph

Assessment information is available for 97 real estate transactions which were carried out in Stroudsburg borough during 1951.

These 97 properties were assessed at from 1 to 120 per cent of their individual market price. There were "extreme" cases, also, in which the properties were assessed at from 360 to 500 per cent of the sale price, but these involved transactions between members of the same family or "paper deals" between two persons in which an exchange of property was made.

Since the number of properties which changed hands during the year is nearly 100, it will be necessary to treat only a fraction of these sales in each daily article. A more comprehensive picture may be shown if the sales are treated on a two or three-month period basis.

With this in mind, the current study of borough assessments begins with the first month of 1951 and extends through February.

One of Stroudsburg's two lowest assessment percentages was set in January when a house on Linden St. sold for $8,500. It was assessed at only $200 or 2 per cent of its market value. There is nothing to indicate the sale price was exorbitant or that the transaction involved property other than the "house" which sold for $8,500.

The remaining 16 properties which changed hands during January were assessed at higher (in some cases, much higher) percentages.

A commercial property on Main St. sold for $20,000. It was assessed at $8,000 or 40 per cent of the market value. A short time later a Main St. commercial property which sold for $40,000 (double the price of the first case) was assessed at $10,000 (only $2,000 more than the first). The latter property was assessed at 25 per cent of its value.

Four of the remaining transactions were commercial properties. The first of these was located on N. Seventh St. and sold for $21,000. Its assessed value was $4,500 or 21 per cent of value. A second commercial property, located in the First Ward, sold for $7,000 and was assessed at $1,700 or 24 per cent of the market value.

A $13,500 commercial property in N. Seventh St. was assessed at $5,000 or 37 per cent of its market value while the final property of this type—a $15,500 commercial sale on Sixth St.—was assessed at $4,000 or 26 per cent of its true value.

During January a house on Elm St. sold for $15,000 and was assessed at $2,800 or 19 per cent. A $3,500 house on North Tenth St. was assessed at $400 or 11 per cent of value. A $500 lot in the Pocono Tract region had an assessed value of $100 or 20 per cent of value. A house on Clermont Ave. was sold for $10,500 and was assessed at $1,700 or 16 per cent of the market value.

A house on Scott St. which sold for $5,000 had an assessed value of $1,500 in the 1951 records or 30 per cent of its market value; a $2,000 home on North Second St. was assessed at exactly one-fourth value, $500; a cottage on Thomas St. sold for $5,000 and was assessed at $6,000 or 120 per cent of the market price.

Stroudsburg's lowest assessment for 1951 was set in February on a Fifth ward property which sold for $25,000 and was assessed at only $300. This one per cent assessment established a low for the entire year. Nearly all the remaining properties were assessed at around 20 per cent.

During February the following transactions were made:

A house on Thomas St. sold for $16,000. An assessed value of $3,700 was set by the local assessor. This was 23 per cent of the market value.

A $17,500 house on North Sixth St. was assessed at $5,000 or 28 per cent of value.

A $10,000 property on Thomas St. had an assessed value of $2,000—exactly 20 per cent. This was also the case with a $6,000 commercial property on West Main St.—assessed value: $1,200.

In another February transaction a home on Dreher Ave. sold for $8,500. It was assessed at $2,000 or 24 per cent of market value.

A $7,500 house on Knecht's Lane was assessed at $1,700 or 23 per cent of market value.

A Club Court house for $8,500 was assessed at $1,800. The assessed valuation was set at 21 per cent of the selling price.

All of the assessments on above properties stayed close to a one-fifth of market value standard. In the remaining three properties sold during February, however, the assessment percentage rose and dropped sharply.

The first of these, for example, was a lot on N. Fifth St. which sold for $1,000 and was assessed at $100—10 per cent of the market value. A second land transaction involved the sale of a tract on Wallace St. for $4,500 which was assessed at $500 or 11 per cent of the value.

A commercial property on N. Sixth St., meanwhile, sold for $8,000 and was assessed at $4,100 or 51 per cent of its market value.

Second highest (in actual percentage figures) assessment for the two-month period was set on a double house on Main St. This "house" sold for $3,500 and was assessed at $4,000—an assessment of 114 per cent of the market value.

What may be regarded as an "extreme" transaction also occurred in Stroudsburg during this two-month period. At that time (January) an assessment of $2,500 was placed on a lot which sold for only $500. The assessment percentage in this case would amount to 500.

Since there was a second transaction (for a house) involving the same two persons, however, it is entirely possible that some sort of personal arrangement had been made between the grantor and the grantee prior to establishment of the sale price. (In the second case the former grantor became the grantee.)

These two properties, therefore, each assessed at 500 per cent of their market value, cannot be logically considered as a part of the actual assessment picture during January and February.

We are left with a composite which indicates that properties sold during the two months were assessed at all the way from 1 per cent to over one hundred per cent of their individual market value.

Next: Stroudsburg—part two.

15,000 Stage Riots Against Premier Malan

Pretoria, South Africa (AP) — Fifteen thousand opponents of Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan staged a tumultuous demonstration against the government last night in the heart of Pretoria, South Africa's legislative capital.

Cause of the rioting appeared to be the racial segregation policies of the Malan government which recently received a sharp setback in the country's highest court. Anti-government spokesmen scored Malan and his followers for their proposals to counter the court ruling.

The Court of Appeals last week declared unconstitutional a law passed by a slim majority a year ago cutting to the bone the voting rights of a million mulattoes in Cape Province. The demonstrators shouted angrily that the government was trying to overrule the court after it had held that Malan and his supporters were trying to tamper with the Constitution without having a two-thirds majority in Parliament.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

A strong and mysterious power is attempting to push the Pocono Mountains Baseball league into a 12-team circuit, and the $64 questions now making the rounds of Monroe county are — Why and Who? This writer has been informed by five teams and one high ranking league official that they are definitely against the move that would enlarge the circuit from ten to 12 clubs. Official steps in this direction will be taken next Monday, when a special meeting is listed for the Lake House, in Saylorsburg.

It's difficult to understand how the enlarging movement could have ever got underway at the last regular league meeting, when half of the clubs in the circuit have definitely taken a stand against the addition of two teams. I find it tough to believe that those taking part in the 1952 flag race would allow someone or a certain group to push something down their throats.

It is odd to say the least that if as many clubs are against the move as for it, that it can carry so much weight that it threatens to pass at next Monday's meeting and bring about an added drain on the area's diamond talent, which even with ten teams threatens to be fatal to at least one and possibly two clubs during the coming campaign. The drain on the manpower supply forced one team out of operation in 1950, another in 1951 and at the current rate it won't be surprising to see one more go the way of the cold duck this season.

Tannersville and Ansonia are admittedly having trouble getting players to open the campaign, and it's not the least bit surprising. The open territory deal has made Ansonia and Barrett the king's eye of a target that is ruled by Rushkill, Saylorsburg, Kunkletown, West End A. C., Lake Harmony, Tobyhanna and Barrett. Even the slightest bit of an additional drain on the player pool will force either the outer circle or the inner wall to give somewhere. The nearness of West End A. C., Saylorsburg and Kunkletown is another factor that couldn't possibly stand additional player drains.

It was only two years ago as stated previously, that the Pocono Mountains league was dissatisfied to the hilt with the 12-team circuit that was divided into two divisions. The league decided to allow only eight clubs in the fold in 1951, but changed its mind at the last moment and expanded to ten teams in order to allow two interested parties to campaign for the top laurels in the pennant fight. However, one of the ten original starters was forced to the sidelines early in the season due to the lack of players. A tenth club, one that failed to show the same ability as other organizations in the circuit, was admitted to the ranks to round out the campaign without disturbing the schedule.

Monday's meeting is one at which every club in the circuit must have representatives on hand, in order to stem the amount of groaning and moaning bound to pop up, especially if the vote goes in the opposite direction of that of the absent teams. It is the duty of every club to have a hand in deciding the number of teams to be in the league and the manner in which the structure of the circuit is to be set up for the coming campaign. Monday's meeting is a history making event, one that may go a long way in deciding the future of baseball in the Pocono Mountains.

Even the very suggestion of 12 teams in the Pocono Mountains league for 1952 has caused a lot of talk, much of which has foundation and some that is wild and reckless. Many men within the ranks of the league have been working hard for an eight-team circuit in recent years, but would be very happy at this time to settle for ten clubs, instead of the proposed cumbersome 12 organizations, which in turn will be divided into divisions of six teams. Eight is the perfect setup for baseball, but certainly ten is better than 12.

The playoff factor is another thing to be considered when speaking of a league featuring 12 teams. The Pocono Mountains League did itself absolutely no good in 1950, when the playoff sessions ran late into October, at which time the weather was certainly more suited for football than the diamond sport, which according to tradition is to be played in the spring and summer months. The possibility of poor attendance at six games in the area is greater than if only five contests are being played in the locality.

Regardless of the stand of the various clubs in the circuit, it is their duty to have representatives on hand at Monday's meeting, where a question with two distinct sides is scheduled to be settled. Actually it is team representation that must settle this most important of questions, not league officials or even appointed committees. Additional teams in the circuit at the present time may wreck all that has been accomplished by hard work in previous years. A mistake at this time will be tough to remedy in July.

Handzelek's Scoring Tactics Put Shickshinny On Even Footing With Strong Kutztown Five

By Ben French

Harrisburg (AP) — Kutztown and Avalon defend their regional titles tonight in the semi-finals of the PIAA class "B" state basketball championships.

Avalon (27-0), the only unbeaten public high school team in the state, will be a strong favorite to defeat Slippery Rock (21-3) at Pittsburgh's Pitt field house.

Kutztown (27-2), class "B" state title for the past two years, is rated on even terms with Shickshinny (25-7) at the new St. Joseph's court at Hazleton.

The two winners clash Friday night at Allentown's Rockne Hall for the state title Kutztown won last year by edging Avalon, 51-48.

Kutztown's Cougars, with the natural confidence of a tournament-hardened combination, would be favored tonight were it not for the amazing scoring spree being put on by Shickshinny's Jake Handzelek.

The flashy Handzelek has scored 180 points in five playoff games for the impressive average of 36 points per game. His season total for 32 games is near 1,000. Against Wellsboro in last Friday's eastern semi-final, the five-foot 11 Jake scored all his team's 18 points in the first quarter and 24 of 25 in the first half. Handzelek, who can hit with either hand equally as well, took it easy throughout the rest of the game for a total of 32 points.

The Cougars will counter with a well-balanced attack that has won 18 consecutive games. Their most impressive victory was last Friday night when they downed a strong Darby quintet from the Philadelphia Suburban League, 34-32.

Captain Pete Barto and six-foot five center Ed Hanck have been the big guns for Kutztown all season. They both played on the Cougars' 1950 and 1951 state championship teams. Kutztown's only losses this season were to Pottstown and Allentown, both strong class "A" quintets.

Advance In Junior Gold Medal Play

Newman's quintet and DeVivo's Shoemen marched through the first round of the junior division of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament before a large crowd at the Monroe County YMCA last night. Newman's contingent ran wild over Nash Motors, 75-41, while DeVivo's cagers came up with a 69-55 win over the Tannersville Hot Rods, in the second half of the doubleheader.

The outcome of the first game on last night's schedule was never in doubt, as Newman's crew took a 14-9 lead at the end of the first round and coasted the remainder of the distance, as every member of the squad saw plenty of action. Newman's club held the upper hand at halftime, 33-18, and then made certain of victory with a 22-11 bulge in the third period scoring and a 20-12 edge in the final round.

Nash Motors made seven of 11 shots from the foul line, while Newman's forces made only seven of 23 tosses from the same distance.

Second Contest
Tannersville put on a rally in the second quarter to turn what appeared certain to be a dull game into a good contest, although DeVivo's five pulled away in the second half of the nightcap to rack up the victory.

DeVivo's charges led 16-7 at the end of the first period, but Tannersville, paced by Fred "Skeet" Werkheiser, Bob Hall and Bob Hallett, came to life in the second period to run up a 20-15 advantage. However, the Shoemen held a 31-27 advantage at halftime.

The Shoemen went on to win with a 24-16 advantage in the third period and a 14-12 spread in the final stanza.

Tannersville made 15 of 24 foul shots, while DeVivo's crew came through with nine of 17 tosses from the same mark. Byron "Chick" Miller and Don Elyman led the winning attack, with 15 and 19 points respectively, while Hall, Werkheiser and Hallett had 18, 17 and 12 tallies respectively for Tannersville.

Tonight's junior division scheduled to meet Penn Dell against the Records at 7 p.m., while Summa's Clippers tangle with Biggs' Restaurant at 8:15.

Clippers Out Of Freeland Cage Tourney

Freeland — Frank's Clippers, composed of East Stroudsburg High school students, bowed out of the Freeland Basketball tournament last night after suffering a first round reversal at the hands of McAdoo's St. Michael's, 70-60, here at the Freeland YMCA.

The East Stroudsburg contingent was never able to hold the upper hand, but the Clippers did manage to tie St. Michael's in the second period, 16-16, after the winning clip held an 18-17 edge at the end of the first period. The Clippers trailed at halftime, 34-33.

Winning Margin
However, St. Michael's held a decided edge in the second half, 20-13 in the third quarter and 25-14 in the final round, as Ray Steele sat out most of the fourth period with four fouls and Dick Trancu fouled out of the game early in the home stretch.

Don France was top scorer for the Clippers with 18 points, while Steele was next in line with 16 markers.

Out Of Bounds Ruling Deprives Snead Of Tie

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — Doug Ford and Sam Snead tied for the Jacksonville Open golf title yesterday, then two hours later Snead forfeited his chance at a tie $2,000 because of an out of bounds ruling in his favor.

After the 28-year-old Ford and the veteran Snead battled down to the wire in a tense finish at 280 each for the 72 holes, it was announced they would play off today. The winner would get the top $2,000 and the loser second money of $1,400.

Frank Caywood, PGA tournament supervisor, said Snead's forfeit makes Ford the champion of the Jacksonville Open. It is

Lovelette Goes After New Records In NCAA Semi-Finals

Seattle, (AP) — Clyde Lovelette, the cloud scraping Kansan, is the terror of the NCAA basketball tournament before he has even lifted a finger.

"After we won the western regional in Corvallis, Ore.," said Coach Bobby Ferick of Santa Clara yesterday, "we were on cloud nine. We came down fast when we saw Lovelette there."

Exhibition Game Listed

Pocono A.C. Monroe County's entry in the Blue Mountain League, will play an exhibition with Kunkletown, regular season and playoff champion of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League in 1951, at Gordon Fields field on Sunday, April 20.

The announcement was made last night by Chet Lucki, pitcher and representative for the A.C. contingent.

Action is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m.

Pocono A.C. finished second in the Blue Mountain League race last season, but won the playoff championship.

League To Buy Uniforms

Bangor — A discussion on purchase of uniforms featured last night's business meeting of the Bangor Little League, here at the Jacksonville Democratic club.

Decision

Gonzales Leads In Inquirer Tennis

Philadelphia (AP) — Richard "Straight" Gonzales won his third straight match of the Philadelphia Inquirer $10,000 Masters Tennis tournament last night, dumping Jack Kramer 6-3, 6-4, in a pair of fast sets.

Gonzales, who hasn't lost yet in the tourney, took only 44 minutes to down Kramer, his second defeat in three starts.

In the second singles match, Frank Panocha Segura trounced Frank Kovacs, 6-2, 6-2, in a match as one-sided as the score indicated.

It marked Segura's second win in three matches while Kovacs has lost three in a row.

Three Matches are Listed

Three matches are on tap for the East Stroudsburg Ladies' league today, at Harmon's Recreation, at 6:45 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Twin County Distributors vs Gap View Inn.
Alleys three and four — Palace Diner vs Square Bar.
Alleys five and six — Eagles vs Quick's Lounge.

Trouble

The plane bringing St. John's and Illinois was routed to Portland, Ore. The teams spent the night there and flew in yesterday, arriving shortly after noon.

Allen's Jayhawks rank as slight favorites, with Illinois strongly supported by many experts and expected by all to clash with the Lovellette-Wrecking & Building Co. to tomorrow night's championship game.

Not that St. John's is regarded lightly. Any team that can upset mighty Kentucky, as the Brooklyn team did Saturday in Raleigh, N. C., gains worlds of respect in the nation. But Illinois, which got here by walling up Duquesne, is the choice to win the eastern crown today.

Allen said he was "never prouder" when his team earned its berth here by crushing St. Louis as Lovellette hit for 44 points—a tourney record. The sage of Kansas, however, said he realized Santa Clara is "playing inspired ball" and we'll have to beat a hard fighting team in the western title game.

If any man is going to steal Lovellette's thunder it's likely to be Bob Zawoluk, of St. John's. The six foot and one-half inch center was the star of the regionals in Raleigh and held the NCAA tourney scoring record for about an hour at 32 points. Then Lovellette hit him in his 44 at Kansas City.

Illinois' Rod Fletcher, ace of the potent Big Ten clutches, also could vie for the call as "most valuable player."

Wallace Halts James In Sixth

Boston, (AP) — Trailing on points, Coley Wallace of New York, uncorked a vicious right cross to the jaw of Willie James of Boston, to gain a six round knockout in a scheduled ten-round main bout last night in the Garden.

Leads

Up to 1:15 of the sixth canto Wallace, winner of the National AAU championship here in 1948, was behind James, New England heavyweight champion, on points. The straight and hard-punching James out-fought the New Yorker from the second round on until he ran into the right hand punch that put him down for the full count.

Cards Blank Phillies, 1-0

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP) — Manager Eddie Stanky played at second base for five innings yesterday as the St. Louis Cardinals, using what may be their opening day lineup, defeated the Phillies, 1-0.

Prize Rookie
Willard Schmidt, the Cards' prize rookie, pitched one-hit ball for six innings and veteran Cliff Chambers allowed only one safety in the last three frames.

Seixas Wins In Opening Round

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the nation's top-ranked tennis player, scored an easy 6-1, 6-1 victory over Larry Shaffer of Miami yesterday in the first round of the Miami International Tennis tournament.

Second Seeded

Orange-seeded Dick Savitt of Grand, N. J., defeated Wes Cass of the University of Miami, 6-1, 6-2.

Lovelette Goes After New Records In NCAA Semi-Finals

Seattle, (AP) — Clyde Lovelette, the cloud scraping Kansan, is the terror of the NCAA basketball tournament before he has even lifted a finger.

"After we won the western regional in Corvallis, Ore.," said Coach Bobby Ferick of Santa Clara yesterday, "we were on cloud nine. We came down fast when we saw Lovelette there."

Ferick's Broncos will play the nightcap today in the four-team Nationals against Phog Allen's frightening Jayhawks at 10:30 p. m. (EST).

St. John's and Illinois, who should have gotten well acquainted socially in a fog-plagued, roundabout plane ride to Seattle, tangle in the opening game at 10:30 a. m. (EST).

Santa Clara and Kansas got the jump on the other teams by reaching town Sunday and taking off any travel weariness before heading to the court for warmup drills. The Kansas practiced at midday, Santa Clara in early afternoon.

Ferick got his boys here with-out incident but the plane carrying the Kansas had to circle for a time before the heavy weather permitted a landing.

Stroudsburg Announces Slate Of Eight Baseball Contests

Stroudsburg High school will play eight baseball games this season, it was announced last night by Mahlon Serrass, faculty athletic manager. There will be three games played at Gordon Fields field and five on the road.

Each Lehigh Valley league contest is scheduled to get underway at 4 p. m.

The only non-Lehigh Valley league foe to be met by the Mountaineers this season is Pen Argyl, an annual diamond power in the Lehigh-Northampton league. This contest is to be played at Pen Argyl on Monday, May 19.

Opener
Emmaus will be the first foe on the 1952 schedule for the W. Main St. sluggers, and the game will be played at Giffels field on Friday, April 18.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis expects a total of 60 candidates for the Stroudsburg baseball squad this season.

The Mountaineers opened practice yesterday, but due to the fact that drills were confined to the school's gymnasium, the size of the opening day squad was below expectations, but more are expected later in the week.

Schedule follows:
April 18—Emmaus Home
April 24—Lehigh Valley Away
April 29—Northampton Home
May 2—Palmerston Away
May 4—Whitehall Away
May 9—Stratford Home
May 16—Lehigh Valley Away
May 19—Pen Argyl Away

Graham Captures Unanimous Nod

Holyoke, Mass. (AP) — Irish Billy Graham, 149½, of New York, jabbed and hooked his way to a unanimous ten-round decision over Mike Gillo, 161½, of New Haven, Conn., last night in the feature bout at the Valley arena.

Gillo, a last minute substitution for Baby Beau Jack of Atlanta, Ga., who was injured in training, was badly outclassed by the clever Graham, top ranking welterweight.

Cubs Nip Indians

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs pounded righthander Ray Narleski for four runs in the eighth inning yesterday and beat Cleveland's Indians, 6-5.

Yankee Homers Sink Braves

Bradenton, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees used their old weapon, the home run, to defeat the Boston Braves yesterday, 3 to 1, before 2,933, largest crowd ever to watch the Tribe during their five-year stand here.

Break Tie
Bob Cerv, rookie center fielder, snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh by hammering his fourth homer of the exhibition season over the left field fence off Warren Spahn. Then in the ninth against ex-Yankee Lew Burdette, Gil McDougald hoisted one into the wind and out of the park.

Woodling, Frable Pace Winning Attack

Pocono Pines — Tannersville evened the Pocono Mountains league championship playoff series at one game each with Tobyhanna last night, with an 81-74 victory on the Tobyhanna Township High court. Tobyhanna had won the first game of the three-game series, 94-93, on the Coolbaugh High court last week.

Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling and Claude "Slat" Frable led the Tannersville attack that found the regular season title holder winging away to a 22-15 lead at the end of the first period and holding the upper hand the remainder of the distance, despite the fact that Stan "Lefty" Kolodzey, Al "Mick" Huey and Al Schoch got the second place finishers rolling in the second period.

Tobyhanna held a 22-17 edge during the second round, but Tannersville was still able to reach the halfway mark in front by a 39-37 count.

Maintain Lead
However, the charges of Coach Harold James managed to hold a slim edge throughout the second half and finish in the winner's circle.

The regular season title holder held the upper hand in the third period, 22-20, and then put the contest on ice with a 20-17 edge during the final ten minutes of action.

Tannersville made 11 of 18 shots from the foul line, while Tobyhanna hit on 14 of 21 tosses from the same distance.

Woodling wound up the game with 28 points, while Frable was in line with 24 counters in a winning cause.

Huey had 23, Kolodzey 21 and Schoch 13 in a losing cause. The deciding game of the championship series will be played next Monday, at Coolbaugh High.

Senior Court Tourney Set For YMCA

A Senior YMCA Basketball Tournament will be held at the Monroe County YMCA this year in place of the annual Gold Medal Tournament, it was decided last night by the tournament committee.

Gold Medal Tournament rules call for eight teams to be entered in the tournament and since only six clubs have entered the senior bracket thus far, it was decided to hold an independent tournament.

There will be a limited number of team and individual awards, chief among which will be a large championship trophy.

DiMaggio May Be Among Missing, But Yanks Remain Team To Beat In American League

By Jack Hand

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio is gone but the world champion New York Yankees remain the team to beat in the American league.

No longer does old number five roam center field, reminding one and all of the pride of the Yankees. Only Phil Rizzuto remains of the great machine that humbled the field in pre-war days.

This is a new Yankee club, rebuilt for the long haul ahead with eager young men proudly wearing the Yankee uniform. Rebuilt under your very nose—and still winning.

When Casey Stengel took over as manager in 1949, they said the Yanks faced dark days while new men replaced the fading regulars. You all know what happened. Three pennants, three world championships.

Nucleus

Yogi Berra, Rizzuto and the veteran pitching trio of Eddie Lopat, Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi still are the nucleus of the ball club. There are signs that their replacements already are on the way up through the farm system.

"Nobody says much about it," said Stengel. "But we've been rebuilding and winning at the same time. You hear those other fellows saying 'watch us in three years.' We've been rebuilding and winning too.

"Somebody asked me if we were going to be better than last year. Well, when you lose a fellow like DiMaggio and might lose another like Gerry Coleman, if he goes into the Marines, you can't say you're going to be better.

"But don't overlook some of these new fellows. I'll put my outfielders — Gene Woodling, 'Hank' Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Jackie Jensen, Bob Cerv and Archie Wilson against anybody's outfield."

Stengel still is indefinite about his regular lineup. In fact his opening day lineup probably won't be his second-day-of-the-season lineup if he runs true to form.

Andy Carey, who hit .228 at Kansas City in his first year out of St. Mary's College, seems to have won the third base job. His promotion from the Kansas City roster is a mere formality. Gil McDougald, rookie of the year in '51, will play second if Coleman passes his Marine physical. April 2 at Jacksonville. If Coleman stays, Gil may swing shift between second and third as he did last season. Billy Martin, sidelined for six weeks with a broken ankle, also is in the picture at second or third.

No use talking about shortstop. Rizzuto is the man. Stengel is working Phil sparingly in the spring games, trying to save him as much as possible for the long grind ahead. If Coleman goes, rookie Jim Briedewer from San Francisco might stick as an extra man.

Dr. Bobby Brown has not signed. Nobody knows whether he will show up at Yankee stadium in April as he did last spring. Naturally, he'll have a job if he shows.

Pitchers

Stengel and pitching coach Jim Turner have devoted much time to lining up a fourth starter behind the "big three." Tom Morgan (9-3) looks like the best bet with Jim McDonald (4-7), acquired from the St. Louis Browns, in the running. Stengel has Bob Hogue (2-1), Bob Kuzava (11-7) and Joe Ostrowski (6-4) for relief.

Among the rookie pitchers are such highly regarded talent as Harry Schaeffer, Tom Gorman and Bill Miller.

The catching is in the same safe hands with Berra number one, inheriting DiMaggio's old cleanup spot in the batting order. Ralph Houk and Charley Silveira will back up Yogi.

Cage Loop To Hold Banquet

Portland—Sidney Eloff, supervising principal of Blairstown, N. J. schools, will be the featured speaker at a sports banquet being sponsored by the newly formed Business Men's Basketball League, here at Otto's Grand View on Route 611, on Thursday.

Wallace Stine, well known sports figure in this community, will serve as toastmaster.

Backed by the first banquet, in what is hoped will develop into an annual affair, will be put on by Dahlgren's Service station, Jewell's Electric, Cramer Lumber Co. and Brody's Barber Shoppe.

Games sponsored by the league during the past season were played on the Portland school court.

Baseball Meeting

Saylorsburg — All members of the Saylorsburg entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball league and interested parties are urged to attend a business meeting here at the Lake House on Tuesday, April 1. The meeting is listed for 8 p. m.

Araujo To Make Debut

New York (AP)—George Araujo, crack 21-year-old lightweight contender from Providence, R. I., will make his New York and national television debut April 4 when he faces Charley Riley of St. Louis at St. Nicholas arena.

Five Features

The International Boxing club yesterday announced the Araujo-Riley and four other feature fights for St. Nick's for April.

Araujo, who defeated featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, lightweight Del Flanagan and Riley in the last four months, has won 41 of his 42 pro fights, 28 of them by knockouts. He has won his last 28 bouts. He defeated Riley in a ten rounder at Providence December 17.

Special Bowling Match

Rushkill league kегlers will present a special match at Harmon's alleys tonight. Bushkill Busters, Stamp Jumpers and Coon Hunters will form one team to tangle with another club consisting of the Up Valley Boys, Fox Hunters and Little Abners.

New Employees To Take Oath

Harrisburg, Pa.—Pennsylvania school officials were reminded yesterday that all new school employees must be screened under the State's new loyalty oath law.

The new act requires all prospective job applicants to be investigated for possible subversive tendencies.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, State superintendent of public instruction, mailed out proposed forms to local school boards for use in screening new applicants.

Dr. Haas emphasized however in an accompanying letter that the law allows each school district to devise its own screening procedure if it so desires.

Corporate Tax Challenged In State Court

Harrisburg, Pa.—The constitutionality of a new law closing loopholes in Pennsylvania's corporate net income tax was challenged in Dauphin county court yesterday.

Frank A. Sion, Harrisburg counsel for the Roy Stone Transfer Co., of Martinsville, Va., asked the court to throw out the new law on the grounds it is "unconstitutional."

The law was passed by the 1951 Legislature as part of its 119 million dollar tax program for the next two years. The loophole closing act eliminates all previous exemptions from payment of the corporate net income levy. It is expected to produce 2 millions in additional revenue during the current fiscal year.

Sion told the court the levy violates a provision of the Federal Constitution reserving Federal control over regulation of concerns engaged solely in interstate commerce. He said the Stone firm is operating solely on an interstate basis. The levy's attempt, he said, to tax interstate concerns is "clearly illegal."

Court Outlaws Mercantile Tax In Allentown

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The Pennsylvania Supreme court yesterday knocked out a tax on wholesale and retail merchants levied by the Allentown school district and, in another decision, upheld the right of county courts to enforce labor union contracts.

The Allentown tax provided a levy of $1 per $1,000 gross volume of wholesale business and $1.50 per $1,000 gross volume of retail business. More than $225,000 had been collected and held in escrow pending the Supreme court decision.

In asking the high court to uphold the findings of the Lehigh county court, the school district argued its levy was "identical" with mercantile taxes now levied by many Pennsylvania cities.

An opinion by Justice John C. Bell Jr., however, declared the tax is "in violation of the enabling act and the Constitution of Pennsylvania."

The court called the tax resolution "very confusing" and concluded "it was written without careful consideration." The case had been appealed by 25 Allentown merchants.

Justice Bell quoted a prior decision of the late Chief Justice George W. Maxey which referred to a tax of this type as presenting "an outstanding example of a legislatively imposed inequality burden."

The right of county courts to enforce labor union contracts was upheld in the appeal of three Philadelphia locals of the International Union of Operating Engineers against an anti-strike injunction issued by a Philadelphia court in April, 1951.

The high court sustained the injunction and declared the lower court was within its jurisdiction in issuing it.

The union has sought to end a two-year contract dated May 1, 1950, with the General Building Contractors association and other groups of contract. It wanted to call a strike last May 1 to enforce demands for a pay raise and new contract.

In another opinion, the city of Reading was directed to pay the legal six per cent interest rate on defaulted municipal bonds, instead of the specified five per cent. The suit was brought by C. R. Miller who owned 44 bonds with a face value of $1,000 each. The ruling reversed a decision of Berks county court.

American Automobile Association Marking Half Century Of Service To U.S. Motorists

By Fred Hitt

Central Press Correspondent

New York—If you think big city parking today has developed into a real problem, you have nothing on those hardy pioneer motorists during the early part of the century who wheezed and cluttered down the street, ever afraid of frightening a horse or getting stuck.

The only difference is that in those days, with the high spirit of the adventurer in them, motorists got together. Vexed by the refusal of the stable proprietors to take in their horseless buggies, they formed the American Automobile association where the lack of parking facilities and other common problems could be explored.

The AAA was born in Chicago one March day in 1902, just 50 years ago, combining the nine auto clubs then in existence. Its stated purposes, among other things, were to develop and introduce the automobile, improve public highways and protect the legal rights of users of motor vehicles.

These were trying days indeed for the men of the horseless carriage. Quite apart from the fact that their noisy contraptions were anything but safe and had a tendency to break down or turn turtle at the worst moment, roads were generally very poor—there were only 142 miles of paved surface in the whole country in 1902—and the attitude of the public towards the venturesome travelers could be described best as "antagonistic."

People didn't have much faith in the future of the automobile. Andrew Carnegie for one thought it had been perfected to such a degree that it was almost impossible to see how it could be improved further. Cars and drivers were habitually and cruelly ridiculed with cries of "Get a horse."

If vast changes have taken place on the American scene during the past half century, a good many of them can be attributed directly to the efforts of the AAA which grew up with and for the motor car.

When the club was formed, there were some 23,000 vehicles in use. Today more than 52,000,000 licensed cars of all kinds are on the roads. The AAA boasts a membership of 3,500,000 and, with over 700 clubs and affiliated branches in the United States, Hawaii, Panama, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, has grown into the world's largest motoring federation.

Many of its original aims still hold true. Apart from its emergency road service, AAA comes to the rescue of stranded members at the rate of one every ten seconds—the club is an active and potent force in the betterment of highways, the fight against tolls and special auto taxes, and the initiation of safety programs.

During any one recent year, the AAA has produced and distributed some 2,000,000 tour books, accommodation and emergency service directories; more than 5,000,000 state, regional and special maps, and 30,000,000 of its detailed strip maps.

In the early days, AAA members got together more or less on a social basis, to exchange information, relate their experiences and swap helpful hints. Today the club represents a highly efficient, smoothly-run organization devoted entirely to the convenience and the interest of the motorist. It no longer depends on members calling in stray reports on paving or other projects necessitating a detour.

The AAA has 12 field reporters who travel constantly in the United States, Mexico and Canada, checking on new construction, road conditions and the availability and quality of AAA-approved facilities and accommodations. This information is immediately relayed to club headquarters and incorporated into maps and listings.

Because there is strength in numbers, the AAA now has a voice in legislation affecting the motorists. It wasn't always that way. Farmers in the early days particularly disliked the rattling mechanical monsters that came storming down the dusty roads at ten and even 15 miles an hour.

One community drew up a list of ordinances including one providing that a driver, when approaching a turn, toll horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver and send up three bombs at intervals of five minutes. Should, after all these preparations, a horse refuse to pass an automobile, the driver was instructed to "take the machine apart as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass."

Although cars have grown to the point where their total horsepower represents 85 per cent of the horsepower of the nation, their final shape and form is still not determined.

Improvements in design and performance continue and who knows whether, in another 50 years, automobiles won't be powered by something else besides gas. Regardless of what happens, it is safe to assume that, then as now, the oval AAA emblem will be there.

Supreme Court Clears Way For Second Remington Trial

Washington, Pa.—The Supreme court yesterday cleared the way for a second trial of William W. Remington, 34-year-old former government economist, on charges arising out of alleged Communist associations.

In a 5 to 4 opinion, the court also decided that Federal income tax must be paid on money which the government said was obtained by extortion.

A short court order denied a hearing to Remington, now free on $7,000 bail. The vote was evidently 6 to 2. Remington had asked the high tribunal to dismiss a grand jury indictment which charged that he lied when he swore he had never been a Communist.

He was convicted in New York district court 13 months ago, but the U. S. Circuit court in New York ordered a new trial, saying the trial judge's charge to the jury was too vague on what constitutes Communist party membership.

Remington had contended the original indictment should have been dismissed.

In the income tax case, the court's opinion upheld the conviction of James Rutkin in the U. S. district court in Newark, N. J.

He was charged with evading payments of income taxes on $250,000. He and several other men had been engaged in rum running during prohibition days.

American College Girls Go To Madrid, Spain, Live Well On Only 78 Cents Per Day

Editor's Note: Following is the twenty-fourth in a series of reports from Britain and Europe by Ruth Haller Ottaway, mother of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record. The writer is an experienced journalist and traveler and her reports from abroad in recent years have received a favorable reception by Record readers.

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Paris—When we go to the Opera Comique we like to dine in a little restaurant across from it. This square of cafes, bistros and small hotels is in itself a perfect opera setting. When last there we had a hearty hand-shake of welcome from the father of the family, each member of which has a hand in running the place. Grandma with blond-tinted hair of youth (Like all French women. There is no grey hair here) sits at the "casse" and counts out your change. The handsome son and all is very cozy.

Mrs. Ottaway

A young girl of about eighteen years sat alone near us. We surmised that she was American, and were sure when she brought American cigarettes. Presently we fell into conversation. She told us that she was from Bennington College, the progressive educational institution in Vermont with alternating six weeks college study and six weeks work in a paid position. She and her girl friend had chosen to work in Spain in a Madrid department store. They lived well there on $78 a day. They found it warm, friendly and delightful. These girls were to work by arrangement for the usual $2 a week! But they had made good, and to retain them for English speaking patrons, they were given $11 a week.

"What are you learning?" This question brought the blithe response, "Oh, about the Spanish people and customs. We can't learn much in six weeks. So we are going to stay until the fall term in Bennington."

"That is permissible?" "Oh yes, Bennington will take us back and give us credit for our work."

"But you are a freshman. Had you studied at all? What is your major?" "Piano," said she. "I am going back to work part time in Madrid and study piano. It is too expensive in Paris." Extraordinary college training!

Outstanding in the courses offered by American colleges is the University of Maryland which has 52 educational centers in Europe. The spring term began here in March 3. The Paris center offers courses for U.S. military personnel which are also open to civilians for a fee. The courses are excellent—French, American foreign relations and the history of American civilization. All applicants must meet college entrance requirements—12 years of schooling.

Courses taken in colleges in France are credited in various colleges in the U.S., we are told. The Bennington progressive plan reaching to Europe, and also the University of Maryland extensive European development are worthy.

1,100 Dogs Unlicensed In County

Some 1,100 dogs licensed last year are not now licensed as required by State law, Edward L. Banks, dog law enforcement officer said yesterday after a checking license records at the office of County Treasurer P. A. Rockefeller.

Mr. Banks came here from his Welcome Lake, Pike county headquarters to start setting up a county-wide drive against owners of unlicensed dogs.

The 1952 licenses were due January 15. All of the 1,100 owners of dogs now unlicensed are liable to prosecution as rapidly as Mr. Banks sets up his itinerary with magistrates of local law enforcement officers for the county-wide campaign of prosecutions.

The enforcement officer said licenses must be attached to the dog's collar or harness. Otherwise it is not valid, he said.
